ELECTRICAL INDUSTRIES.

Business Places and Private Houses Fall of the Lively Voice.

An idea of the vast extent of the electrical industries can be formed when it is stated that careful investigation reveals the fact that the capital invested in various electrical arts is not less than $1,500,000,000, says the Boston Herald. The very magnitude of this vast capital indicates the enormous extent to which electricity now lends its aid to the other natural forces previously brought under human control. One can scarcely enter an industrial establishment of any importance, a public building or a private residence having any pretense of comfort or luxury, without meeting with familiar or unfamiliar electric appliances. Not only are electric motors to be seen everywhere, but the electric current is made to regulate the operation of steam throttle valves, clocks and many other appliances of machinery. It is not easy to guess where all this will stop. No doubt electricity will continue to invade fields wherein mechanical construction has heretofore been wholly relied upon and other mechanical movements will, in their turn, be supplanted.

DOES HE LOVE YOU?

How to Find the State of a Young Man's Affections.

"It is the easiest thing in the world," said a young lady, according to the Chicago Journal, "to tell if a young man is in love with you. Yet scores of girls, just because they do not think enough of themselves, overlook the manifestations of sincere regard which must always precede a definite confession of love.

"Now, a young man in love, or partly in love, always listens to every word she utters. This is so invariably the rule that a girl, when in company with the young man and others, may address some remark of little interest to no one in particular, and address it in such a manner that it is impossible for it to be heard. If the young man is more than ordinarily fond of the girl he will evince special interest in that remark, and will not rest satisfied till he has discovered what it was.

"Then, again, a young man in love can, when in company with several, more readily converse with them than with the object of his affection. For this reason he often appears to be far more interested in some girl he cares little for than the girl he loves. Some young men also develop a habit of contradicting statements made by the girl they are fond of. This seems an absurd thing to do, but it is a fact that many love affairs take rise out of incessant playful quarrels."

When the Moon Looked Blue.
"Once in a blue moon" is a saying which appears to be founded on fact. A Scandinavian captain named Salveson, in Chinese waters, was fortunate enough to see a blue moon several years ago, about the time the atmosphere was supposed to be impregnated with the dust of the Krakatoa eruption. The color was like that of a hedge sparrow's egg—a pale, rather greenish blue.

The Value of Electrical Plants.
Few persons realize the enormous amount of money which is invested in electric plants of various sorts. Over $100,000,000 are invested in electrical machinery used in mining. Electrical elevators employ about $15,000,000 more. Electric railways represent about $1,000,000,000. This does not include the money being used in the manufacture of electrical machinery.

Rich and Poor in India.
Our standard of civilization is personal comfort—luxury, a thing absolutely unknown in native India. There is scarcely any difference in the mode of living between the rich and the poor. If you go into the house of a rajah, there is the same bare floor, and only a simple platter to eat from, such as is seen in the home of the poorest. To put it crudely, there will probably not be even the luxury of a wash basin and towel, for the rich man, like his poor brother, he washes in the open and dries himself in the sun. Such is the extreme simplicity of life that wealth is still buried in India; a man may spend it on jewels for his wife, but not on pleasure or personal comfort. This simple life, which fostered no distinctions of class, has been preserved for 3,000 years by Indian civilization, but ours will destroy it in 50 years.—Humanitarian.

Indiana Crop Reports.
Reports on the Indian wheat crop are beginning to come in. From the central provinces we learn that the area of wheat is only 1,898,032 acres, as compared with 2,714,454 acres for 1896, and a ten years' average area exceeding 4,000,000 acres. The estimated out-turn is 321,475 tons, against 368,338 for 1896, and 784,802 as the ten-years' average.

Donatfulness of Bellinda.
Arabella (concluding the description of the magnificence of her employer's home)—And in the servants' hall we 'as 'ot plovers' heggs ev'ry mornin' for brekfst. Bellinda—That's nothin'. At hour 'ouse hall the fires is laid with real sparrowgrass sticks instead o' wood!—London Punch.

No novelist could invent a story of truer manly devotion than the "humble romance" revealed by the following letter from Mr. Harry Chant, of 211 Haskell Avenue, Dallas, Texas. About fourteen or fifteen months ago I was working with a gang of men and happened to say to one of them, "I hope it will not rain as I have a big washing to do for the children." THE STRIKING COAL MINERS.

The half a million coal miners in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania have been receiving for their labor an average of 61 cents a day. During the Presidential campaign of 1896 they were told by Mr. Hanna's hirelings that the low wages which they received was due to the low tariff on coal and the fear of capitalists that Bryan would be elected and the country flooded with 50-cent dollars. They were promised in the event of the election of McKinley an increase of wages, as the country would be placed on a gold basis. The miners, many of whom never saw a gold coin, were led to believe that ruin would result from the free coinage of silver and that their welfare and salvation depended on the election of McKinley. Many of them were foreigners, imported a few years ago by the coal barons to work under contract for wages that no American laborer would accept. Being ignorant of the English language the statements of Hanna's hirelings were interpreted to them by their bosses and they voted as instructed, and Mr. Hanna's man was elected, the States in which the strikes are now on giving him the largest majorities.

The tariff on coal was increased, but the wages of the miners were not. Mr. Hanna takes no interest in their case, except through his agents to get the courts to enjoin them from peacefully assembling to endeavor by moral suasion to prevent the miserable wretches, whose disposed to work for a mere pittance, from doing so. Emisaries of the coal trust are said to have been sent among the strikers to induce them to violate the law to furnish a pretext for shooting them down, but so far they have not succeeded. Though freedom of speech and the right to peacefully assemble to discuss their grievances, rights guaranteed to every American citizen by the constitution, have been denied them, yet they have committed no overt act for which they can be imprisoned. The farmers in the vicinity of the mines are gratuitously supplying them with provisions and, though the odds against them are great, there is a probability that the coal barons will be compelled to increase their wages.

The Executive Board of the Mine Workers, which seems to be composed of intelligent men, at a meeting at Columbus, Ohio, maintained that the fight now being waged by the miners is one of common interest to common labor throughout the country. This board has issued a call for a conference of organized labor to be held at St. Louis. In this call it is stated "that $30,000 miners be condemned to lives of drudgery and starvation by arbitrary rulings of courts is an insult to a beneficent Creator, an outrage upon free government and a disgrace to the Christian civilization under which we live." This indicates that the miners have had their fill of Hannaism and that henceforth they will vote as becomes American citizens for the interests of the United States.

AN OBFUSCATED ORGAN GRINDER.

The corporation organ seems to be very much out of tune and its grinder is certainly obfuscated. The organ attempts to get on both sides of every question possibly hoping to please everybody, but like the man with the jackass, who essayed that impossible feat, he satisfies no one and makes himself ridiculous. Just now he is trying to make it appear that the silver men are free traders and that, too, in the face of the fact that the representatives of the silver men of this State in Congress voted for the tariff bill, though many of the schedules of that bill were not such as they desired. The grinder seems to be particularly desirous at this time to please Senator Jones, for upon his success in that respect depend his chances of getting a place at the Federal pie counter. To accomplish this purpose he prates protection incessantly, though when the Senator was a candidate for re-election the grinder's notes, like those of every goldbug in the State, were against him. The grinder, too, on occasion, professes to be in favor of bimetalism, but whenever an advocate of free coinage is a candidate for office he is certain to be opposed by the organ, unless, when he passes the hat, the candidate knows and pays the price of silence.

The organ is everything by turns and nothing long if its terms are not complied with. It has a bargain counter at all times, but knowing the utter worthlessness of what it has to sell no offer is refused if the purchaser is suspected of having any knowledge of the value of what he is buying. Its readers, doubtless, remember that within the last few years, in its efforts to do business with both sides, it advocated the election of William M. Stewart to the Senate one day and of D. C. Wheeler, T. G. Herman, Frank Emmitt and Mr. Robinson, who were candidates for the Legislature and opposed to Senator Stewart, the next day. Its readers have known the organ to oppose William Woodburn, the regular nominee of its party for Congress, for reasons which the public understood at the time. They have heard its squeaks for protection one day and its notes against Senator Jones, an avowed protectionist, the next day. They have heard its strikes for the interests of Nevada at one moment and its jubilant tones over a goldbug victory the next. They have heard it proclaim that a factory had been opened in New England, but not a note in condemnation of the legislation that closes silver mines and depopulates villages in the West.

But why enumerate instances to prove its vagaries? It can utter more discordant notes than any organ of its size in seventeen States, in short its noises are a jumble of contraries and contradictions.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Elmer E. Strubble, Cashier of the Farmers' Bank at Shepard, Mich., was shot yesterday morning by robbers and cannot live. The cash in the bank was taken.

William R. Blackman, the defaulting cashier of the Los Angeles Light Company, was held for trial yesterday under a bail of $5,000. Blackman was unable to furnish bail and remains in jail.

R. O. Williams of Los Angeles was found dead in his bath-room yesterday morning. The gas was escaping and it is thought that he turned it on accidentally while taking a bath. His wife is satisfied that it is not a case of suicide.

Irving Mann, one of the persons arrested for the murder of Schofield, was released from jail at San Jose yesterday. No indictment was found against the boy and the complaints were dismissed. He will be detained as a witness for the prosecution.

An extra freight train on the Lake Erie and Western road crashed into an excursion train on the Detroit and Luna Northern at a crossing near Toledo, O., Friday night. Forty passengers were injured, some fatally. None were reported killed.

Curb quotations on wheat started at 97 cents, then advanced to 98½ and held steady at this figure for a while and then jumped to 99½. Before 11:45 it had reached a dollar and when the closing bell rang it stood firm at 99½ for September wheat. At Peoria, Ill., the price stood firm at $1.

The last expedition for the Alaskan gold fields will leave San Francisco on August 25th. The steamer Navarro has been chartered and will tow the river steamer Thomas Dwyer to the mouth of the Yukon. It is expected that the expedition will reach Dawson City in about thirty days.

A Mormon Elder stopped with L. G. Hamlin at Northern Dallas, Ala., last Sunday. Yesterday morning Mr. Hamlin awoke to find the Elder gone, also his wife and the wives of several of his neighbors. The community is aroused and on the track of the fugitive, who if caught will get a rough deal.

The steamer Ooptic has arrived from Hawaii and reports that the American flag has not as yet been raised over the islands and no indications that it will be. It was rumored that the United States Minister would take possession of the islands on the 2nd of August, but up to that date nothing unusual had occurred.

The deputy sheriffs and strikers clashed at Plum Creek yesterday, there was no blood shed, but a battle is expected at any moment. The campers had divided into three sections and were determined on marching to three several towns or districts. The deputy sheriffs met the vanguard and turned the men in advance back, but the column kept on. The deputies formed lines across the roads and ordered them back and the men sneered and moved on. There was a sudden push from the rear of the body and the leaders and deputies were forced backward and it was hard to tell in the mixup which were strikers and which deputies.

A few arrests were made and the strikers stood still to see what disposition would be made of them. Chief Young called out to arrest any man that attempted to pass, and a delay gave the deputies an opportunity to form and block the road. Other tactics were tried to evade the deputies, but in every case ended by one or more of the strikers being arrested.

Small Homesteads in Pennsylvania
Very Cheap.

Deserted Homes with Good Accommodations That May Be Had for One Dollar a Month.

A traveling man who returned from a business trip by wagon through east Pennsylvania said to the Sun correspondent:

"There is no need for any eastern man to go west for a free farm. In my travels just ended I passed more than a dozen deserted homes in the country—good homes and stables, with not a sign of an occupant. Some of these homes have a dozen fertile acres each, a good spring, some woodland, and fences still in fair condition. At other places the acreage was not so large. At one place there were 15 acres.

"In the northern part of Berks county, where the soil is dark and good, I came across a two-story frame house with five rooms and an out kitchen, a bake oven, pigsty, and a small frame barn. There was a garden, too, all over-run with weeds. No one had lived there for two years. I asked the owner of a big farm near by what the matter was. He said there was nothing the matter with the place, only the right man had not come along yet. It had ten acres, and the farmer was working those acres along with his own rather than let them be overgrown with weeds and Canada thistles, to spoil his own land. The owner gets no rent. The house and barn are nailed shut and everything is going to decay. 'They have a good well of water, too, and a good spring down there under the willow trees,' said the farmer. 'The man who lived there last moved to town, saying he could not make a living and pay the rent of $24 a year. Think of a nice country home like this for $24 a year, and yet not rented! Any good man and wife can get along on such a place, yet people are not renting it. They ought to be able to make ends meet on ten acres. A man could keep a horse, a cow or two, chickens or ducks, and could raise a good many things on ten acres. It's a slow man who can't pick up odd jobs in the country to make his rent and have a little besides.'

"Notwithstanding all that the farmer said, the fact remains that dozens of such little country homes in eastern Pennsylvania are entirely deserted and nailed shut. I have now in my mind a very nice house with a front yard, grape arbor, garden with picket fence, bake oven, outhouse, stable, and nine acres of ground, located on a hillside overlooking a beautiful valley. That place has been deserted for two years. The man who last lived there got a job in the city and now pays ten dollars a month rent, whereas he couldn't pay $1.50 a month in the country. It is a puzzle to me why men can't get along on ten good acres like that. I can only conclude that they are too lazy to work.

"The other day I doubled the road and noticed that a formerly deserted house near Churchtown was occupied. It surprised me. I stopped and learned that a city family on a vacation had taken the house for two weeks, and were having a picnic in the country. The housewife said it was a shame that such a nice house should be tenantless and deserted. Twenty dollars would fix up the kitchen and chimney, and a smart man could make the ten fertile acres blossom like the rose, but the great trouble is to find the smart man who wants to leave the city and live in the country as a small farmer.

"The other day a good house, new frame stable for two cows, 12 acres, good garden, fruit trees, good well of water, grape arbors, bake oven, and all, sold for $150. The buyer paid $25 cash and gave his note for the year for the balance. The place had rented for one dollar a month, and the tenant cheated the landlady out of a year's rent, so she sold the farm rather than have it among the deserted.

"An able-bodied man with a few hundred dollars can buy a good little home at many nice places in eastern Pennsylvania, and if he makes up his mind to pitch in, be saving, and work when it doesn't rain, he can live comfortably. The trouble seems to be that so many men would rather loaf than earn a living."—N. Y. Sun.

The Hindoo Funeral.

When a Hindoo dies the services of an undertaker are not needed, as word is immediately sent to the relatives and friends of the deceased, who meet at the house and attend to all the details of the funeral. Some of them buy at the bazaar the articles necessary for the ceremony, such as a piece of linen, copper pots, pieces of sandalwood, one earthen pot, some "ghee," or clarified butter, rice, a few split chips of bamboo and two strong bamboo poles for the bier. In rainy weather some oil and resin to revive the flames are added to the stock of necessities. A sacred grass, the "durbhas," and some "tulsi" leaves are spread over the bier. It is very necessary that the son of the deceased should perform the ceremony. If he is absent at the time of the death the father or brother of the deceased or some other male member of the family may take his place. When there is no son in the family one is adopted for the purpose.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Sally Lunn was a pastry cook, who, at the close of the eighteenth century, used to cry the teabread which bears her name about the streets of Bath, England.

AUSTIN SCHOOLS.

Conducted Entirely by Home Talent—Matters of Interest to Teachers

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Within a little more than two weeks' time all the schools of Nevada will enter upon a new term. Over a month ago the examination will ground out new teachers by the score, not counting the normal graduates of our University. At present nearly every school district has selected its teacher or corps of teachers with what result (for better or worse) remains to be seen later on.

Beginning with Wadsworth and proceeding East as far as the State line, branches out to the north and south, the school children of the several districts will be confronted either in part or all together with new instructors.

In only two of the largest school districts the voice of the people has found a responsive chord in the souls of the respective boards, by re-electing their full corps of teachers. Winnemucca is one and Austin the other town thus favored.

The former received exhaustive mention through the columns of your paper some six months ago.

The writer has within the last year made frequent visits to the local school and has therefore no hesitancy in stating that the school, particularly the principal's department, has no superior in eastern Nevada. Austin people have indeed cause for congratulation regarding the retention of Walter C. Gayhart as principal, who so satisfactorily served them for three consecutive years.

The Austin school is divided into four departments. The total number of children enrolled during the past year was 200, with an average daily attendance of 160, about equally divided among four rooms.

The High School department endeavors to meet requirements for college. Those who graduate may return and do post-graduate work. They may take any or all of the following studies, viz: Latin (Caesar, Cicero, Virgil or Horace); German; plain or solid geometry; trigonometry; and the principles of both surveying and metallurgy, also the testing of ores.

Mathematics is made the strong feature. Practical bookkeeping, chemistry, physics, physical geography, algebra, geometry, literature, composition, history and the current news constitute branches in the regular course. Many of the graduates of this school have without further preparation obtained grammar certificates and are successfully engaged in teaching in the county.

Mr. Gayhart received his education in Toledo, Ohio, where he was born in 1868. He has been in Nevada going on five years, purchased property in Austin and looks upon Nevada as his permanent home. He is a strong advocate of the principles dear to every true Neveadan. He is likewise a practical civil engineer, being an active member of the Ohio Institute of Mining Engineers, and fills at present the office of a U. S. Deputy Mineral Surveyor for this state.

The First Grammar Department has the sixth, seventh and eight grades. It is presided over by Miss S. F. Wagner of Empire, who is an excellent disciplinarian. Here are taught the usual studies of those grades, and by oral and object lessons are conveyed the principles of the higher branches to be completed in the next department. Most stress is laid upon reading, expression, elocution and drills of various kinds. She was re-elected for the third time.

Miss Bessie Taylor, a young lady of Austin, has charge of the Second Grammar Department, consisting of the third and fourth reader grades, which require the most trying work of all. Miss Taylor during her four or five years' experience in this capacity, has constantly maintained among all the patrons of the school a most enviable reputation as a bright teacher; genial, kind and affectionate in disposition she has won the love of all her little charges. She is on her fifth term.

The Primary department contains all grades to the third reader. Miss Emma Pohl, a native of Austin, is the teacher and enjoys a successful experience of two years. The phonetic and word method is used in teaching reading, and much of the other work is oral. The little ones are taught local geography, numbers and simple songs which they execute with much zest. Of all work in the school course the primary is here considered the most important.

GENERAL SCHOOL NOTES.

This year's graduates were six girls and one boy. Magale Kearn, one of the number, who had previously taught school for three years, took the teachers' examination and received a Grammar Grade certificate, making 92 per cent on general average.

A gold medal was offered by the principal to the one who should graduate with highest honors. It was won by Jessie Schmidlen. Miss Kearn made a slightly higher average but was excluded from competition by reason of her age and experience.

Each year the standard of work in all higher grades is advanced as much as possible to keep up with the general progress of the "New Education."

Under management of the Trustees, Mrs. Schwin, Horton and Luitrell, the school building is being thoroughly overhauled during vacation and the out-buildings moved and enlarged.

With all this reconstruction, though, the local buildings as a whole are far inferior to those of similar schools in Nevada with the decided exception of the Wadsworth school building.

The school contains a fine library, including a fine set of encyclopaedia,

Celebrated for its great leavening strength and healthfulness. Assures the food against alum and all forms of adulteration common to the cheap brands.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

also a goodly stock of chemicals and chemical and physical apparatus.

In another letter your correspondent will give you a description of the town of Austin, as to its principal business places, mining, etc.

THE COURT MARI L.

The Case of Lieutenant Morgan Getting More Complicated Between the Civil and Military Courts.

It will be remembered that in the case of Lieutenant Morgan before a Court Martial, a few days ago objections were made to Major Huffaker representing the defendant. As a result the trial was postponed for several days to permit the defendant to procure counsel.

Yesterday an alternative writ of mandate from the Supreme Court was served upon Colonel J. J. Crosby, President of the Military Court, commanding the Military Court to rescind, set aside and vacate its order and decision and permit Major Huffaker to defend Morgan or show cause why it has not done so. The Military Court is given until the 10th of September to answer the writ of mandate of the Supreme Court. The effect of this writ will be to again postpone the trial of Morgan which was to have occurred on August 31st.

The question now agitating the minds of the parties interested is, where will this rumpus end and what will the result be. If the Military Court insists on its position in reference to Major Huffaker it will have to proceed with the trial in total disregard of the Supreme Court, or on the other hand it will be compelled to go back on its order and admit its error. If it rebels against the Supreme Court the members are liable to be yanked for contempt and they will be in a worse pickle than Morgan.

The Reno Water.

O. C. Powning, President of the Reno Water Land & Light Company, is in receipt of an analysis of a sample of water, taken from the reservoir, by Thos. Price & Son, analytical chemists of San Francisco.

The analysis shows 15 16 grains of solid residue per U. S. gallon, composed principally of carbonates. The water is free from sulphates and contains only traces of sodium chloride. The free ammonia and albuminoid ammonia present amount to only minute traces.

Mr. Price says that such water is well adapted for drinking purposes and general domestic uses.

Opening of the Public Schools.

Examinations will be held on Monday and Tuesday, the 30th and 31st inst., for the registration and classification of pupils, also a conditional examination for new pupils. The regular term will commence on Wednesday, the 1st of September. It is desirable that pupils should present themselves at the beginning of the school term so that all assignments can be made immediately and confusion avoided later on.

Another Old Resident Passes Away.

Mrs. Mary Lewis, who has been in poor health for a long time, passed away last evening at 7.30. Mrs. Lewis has been a resident of Reno for many years and is consequently well known. The funeral will take place from the late residence of the deceased on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

Certain localities of California have been visited the last few days with violent thunder storms. Electrical storms of such violence are new to California and the natives have been considerably astonished as well as frightened.

Geo. D. Pyne of Virginia City was elected First Vice President of the Grand Council Y. M. I. at Santa Rosa. The next Grand Council will meet at San Jose.

CHINESE WOMAN DOCTOR.

He King Eng Is the First of Her Sex to Study Medicine.

As far as her name conveys to the average American, Hu King Eng might just as well be a man, but she isn't. Hu King is a remarkably pretty little maid from the Celestial empire, and more than that, she is the first woman of that heathen land to whom the degree of doctor of medicine has been granted.

Dr. Hu was born in Foo Chow and in her childhood she had every material luxury which a Celestial dad. could possibly afford. Her grandfather was a mandarin of power and wealth, who late in life became converted to Christianity and brought his grandchild up in that faith.

When she was old enough little Hu King was sent away to a boarding school, but she never seemed to take any interest in smuggling caramels, going to matinees and other courses which schoolgirls take. Instead, she prowled around in the dispensary connected with the institution, learning all she could about medicines and drugs. So marked was her thirst for medical lore that her father decided to make a physician of her.

After bitter opposition on the part of all her relatives, who said they would rather see her dead than a doctor, or whatever the title is in Chinese, Hu King came across the seas to this country. She matriculated at the Ohio Wesleyan university, and after four years of hard, persevering work, was graduated with the degree of master of arts.

From Ohio she went to Philadelphia, where she took a three years' course in the Woman's Medical college and a post-graduate course in the Philadelphia polyclinic, from both of which institutions she received degrees. Then followed several months of practical work in the Woman's hospital in Boston, and Dr. Hu, fully equipped for her life work, returned to Foo Chow and assumed charge of the Siang-Hu hospital.

Her success has been remarkable. One instance is related of a coolie wheeling his blind old mother 1,000 miles in a wheelbarrow to consult the woman doctor. A double cataract operation and the blind was made to see. The only son of a wealthy mandarin was dumb from his birth, and so of no account; disqualified to worship before the names of his ancestors. The tied tongue once relieved, and the dumb was made to talk.

Dr. Hu King Eng is one of the delegates to the woman's congress to be held in London next year.—N. Y. Press.

John Ulrick of Carson spent the day here yesterday.
